The Attorney General asked for a copy of a letter secured by the FBI at the time of subject's apprehension in New York on July 31, 1963. The Attorney General said he learned of this letter during a visit to New York last week.

The letter makes reference to a possible homosexual relationship between [redacted] and Jeremy Thorpe. The letter was written by Thorpe and bore a return address of the House of Commons, London. The Attorney General stated that he wanted to inform [redacted] of this matter on a personal basis, "as the British can't afford another disclosure of this kind." The Attorney General had verified that Thorpe is in the House of Commons as a member of the Labor Party.

As a matter of background, [redacted] was arrested by FBI Agents of the New York Office on July 31, 1963, on the basis of a bench warrant issued in United States District Court, San Francisco, on July 12, 1963, charging him with violation of the terms of his probation. [redacted] had originally pled guilty to a Theft of Government Property offense involving the theft of two electric typewriters from the United States Air Force. He did have the letter from Thorpe in his possession at the time of his arrest.

It is not known how the Attorney General learned of this letter, but he may have secured such information from the Marshal who took custody of subject following his arrest. The subject may have told the Marshal or may have tried to get another letter out of jail to Thorpe.

ACTION:

U.S. DEPT. OF JUSTICE

The Attorney General is being furnished a copy of the letter from Thorpe in line with his request. A memorandum is being prepared for our Legal Attaché in London advising him of this matter.
